

Senator Seward Among the English Aristocracy and Titled Abolitionists—His Presentation at Court—Amusing Anecdotes.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD. London, Oct. 23, 1893. Your well known impartiality induces me to address you this note, in vindication of Governor Seward from a calumny published in certain American prints, and since republished in England. Nor would I notice it were it not that my friend Lord I. ...

Before closing I must relate an anecdote which Governor Seward himself has related to me. When the messenger reached him announcing that Her Majesty had fixed an hour for his audience, the Governor was in the early stage of a cold. ...
